Numb. 258.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

THURSDAY January 11, 1739.

The following is a Tranſlation of Count Seckendorff's Memorial, preſented to the Emperor after that Lord had been ſent from Vienna to the Caſtle of Gratz.

AS it has pleaſed your Imperial Majeſty, from the Effect of paternal Care, to cauſe me to be ſafely conducted to the Caſtle of Gratz, in order to protect me from the Inſolences of a ſeditious Mob, I preſume to inſer, that your Majeſty will yet further protect my Innocence, and ſhelter me from the freſh Dangers I have Reaſon to apprehend. I cannot ſupport my ſelf under the Sorrow with which I have been overwhelmed ſince my Arrival here: My Heart is ſo deeply affected with it, that Words cannot expreſs my Affliction. I was conducted hither like a Criminal, and am treated with as much Rigour as if I had betray'd the Sacred Perſon of your Imperial Majeſty; but ſo conſcious am I, nevertheleſs, of my own Innocence, that I am ſure of making it appear to your Imperial Majeſty, as it will ſome Time before the Tribunal of the Almighty. My Zeal is too well known, and juſtified, for your Imperial Majeſty to believe that I could be capable of neglecting my Duty during the laſt Campaign: Half the Turkiſh Empire would have been ſubjected to your Imperial Majeſty, if it had been in my Power to have conquered it. How unhappy is my Fate in my old Age, after 46 Years Service, during which Time my Blood has often been ſhed for your Imperial Majeſty, and your illuſtrious Houſe! What have I done to deſerve the Treatment that I ſuffer, and to have my Days ſhortened by Grief? I have great Reaſon to preſume, moſt gracious Emperor and Lord, that what has happened to me has not come to your Knowledge; and this has occaſioned me to take the Liberty of addreſſing myſelf immediately to your Imperial Majeſty: I do it by throwing myſelf at your Feet, and beſeeching you, in the moſt ſubmiſſive Manner, either to put an End to my Sorrows, or ſo to aſſuage them that Tranquility may be reſtored to me, and that I may paſs the ſhort Time I have yet to live, in Liberty, and with my Family, where I ſhould be conſtantly employed in praying for the Glory of your Imperial Majeſty, and for the Proſperity of your Reign. This Misfortune, that was moſt to be feared in this Life, I have unhappily laboured under, in being in Diſgrace with your Imperial Majeſty, which, as God is my Witneſs, I have no way deſerved. May it pleaſe therefore your Imperial Majeſty, on my Account, to give all Europe a new Proof of your natural Goodneſs, in changing the melancholy Situation of him who will never ceaſe to be, &c. Signed

Count de Seckendorff.

LONDON, Oct. 5.

They write from Berlin, that ſince his Pruſſian Majeſty's Journey to Loo, a Marriage between the Second Prince of Pruſſia and the Princeſs Amelia, Second Daughter to the King of Great-Britain, has begun a-freſh to be talk'd of at that City. It's ſaid this Affair was revived at the Viſit the King made to the Prince of Orange, who ſounded his Pruſſian Majeſty thereupon. The

King's

King's Anſwer to this was couch'd in ſuch Terms, as demonſtrated his Approbation of the Propoſition; Since which it has been reported, that a Miniſter in a publick Character will be ſent from London to Berlin to treat upon this Subject, and to execute another Commiſſion, as well in Relation to Eaſt-Frieſland, as to re-eſtabliſh a good Harmony and Underſtanding between the two Courts. The laſt ſeems now more immediately neceſſary than ever, ſince the Proteſtant Intereſt is in ſo much Danger from the ſtrict Union of the Emperor with the King of France.

On Tueſday a merry Scene happen'd at a Puppet-ſhew in Southwark Fair, as follows: Punch ſtalking before the Spectators in a Spaniſh Habit, gave ſuch Diſguſt to an Engliſh Dog, unmuzzled, belonging to one of the Company, that he leap'd upon the Stage, ſeized poor Punchinello, and tore him in a terrible Manner, in Defiance of the Devil, at that time in Conference with him and his Conſervators alſo; who were ſadly put to it to ſave him, and bring Matters to an Accommodation.

By private Letters from Williamsburgh in Virginia, dated the 2d of Auguſt, we have Advice of the Arrival there of the Unity, James Corbett, Maſter, from St. Kitts: That in his Paſſage, in the Latitude of 22 Degrees North, he met with a Sloop under Convoy of a Spaniſh Man of War, in the Middle of the Night, who fired upon him ſharp ſhot, which obliged him to bring to: The Maſter of the Sloop us'd him with very ill Language, and threatened to ſink his Ship; and after detaining him ſeveral Days, diſmiſs'd him. The Spaniſh Man of War and Sloop were bound to Porto-Rico from Old Spain.

Wherefore I flatter my ſelf, that all thoſe Perſons, who, by Subſcription or otherwiſe, aſſiſted my late Husband, in the Proſecution of the ſaid Undertaking, will be kindly pleaſed to continue their Favours and good Offices to his poor afflicted Widow with ſix ſmall Children and another hourly expected.

And therefore that no Perſon or Perſons that are indebted to the ſaid Eſtate, may plead ſuch Excuſe for their not complying with me by Reaſon of ſuch falſe Reports, I thought it neceſſary to give this publick Notice to all Perſons indebted to the ſaid Eſtate, that no Perſon or Perſons whatſoever has any Right or Power to receive or give Diſcharge for any Debt any ways due to the ſaid Eſtate, but my ſelf, who am ſole Executrix to the aboveſaid Eſtate of John Breton deceaſed. Magdalen Juneau.
